

A New Leaf

LANDSCAPE RENOVATION

Volume 3 Issue 2

Edible, Artistic, Living Walls for Vertical Spaces.

Wondered how to make the narrow walkway that your Dining room window looks out upon look more interesting? How about an edible art piece? Living wall technology has taken a leap forward. In these installations, modular wall trays are installed upon waterproofed walls and utilize drip irrigation systems. Not really interested in dealing with a herb/veggie garden? Then decorative annual flowering plants such as Pansy for Viola or longer living perennials, ferns or even succulents are options to consider. Designs are customized. Living walls are even perfect for the interior courtyards found in many homes in Southern California.

With appropriate lead times, your custom wall will be fully grown for you and ready to be installed upon delivery.

A New Leaf provides the following services:

Check Drainage flows and line clearing

Irrigation check-up, adjustments and repair

Planting review and recommendations

Lighting check-up bulb changes and adjustments

Pest control and fertilization of plant materials

Seasonal Color Changes

Garden enhancements for special occasions

YOUR GARDEN "HORRORSCOPE"

We are observing in our clients and our own gardens that our moist Spring has created conditions ideal for Rust development on Roses. Rust flourishes when the temperature is between 64-70 Degrees F. and moist foggy conditions. The life cycle of Rust is 10 – 14 days so repeated treatment is necessary. First remove as many of the infected leaves as possible. This includes fallen leaves. Then start a 10 –14 day spray cycle of either an Organic or Synthetic fungicide. Follow the directions carefully. As the weather warms and we have less foggy morning the conditions should become less hospitable for Rust.

For a review of your garden
PLEASE CONTACT:

Steven Volski at
SVolski@aol.com
(562) 690-1492

Or Mary Jane Thor at
ANewLeaf.OC@cox.net
(949) 298-4446

Announcing the launch of our new Website.

ANewLeafOC.com We can also be found at ANewLeafLA.com